I need to tell students that the state is doing something about our dependence on oil and global warming. I show my students my solar panels on my house if I can do something. The state can too. John Price