Comment: NY MUST step up and take a leading role in our greener future. Not only is it the morally right thing to do for our children and their children, it is the best course for the economic growth of this country. Organic and green are being shown to be more economic than the status quo. Cleaner energy means jobs, economic growth and a healthier population. We cannot afford not to do it. If the general population is ever going to take environmental responsibility seriously the government needs to set the standard and show the way.
